BRISTOL — A ribbon cutting celebration will be held Monday for the “Heart of Bristol” sculpture, recently installed on Federal Hill Green.

This is the second “All-Heart sculpture” installed in the city. The Heart of Bristol sculpture was created by artist Amanda Mendoza and funded though the Broad View Fund at Main Street Community Foundation and the Arts and Culture Commission.

“We are thrilled to have public art here in Bristol and I know the City Arts and Culture Commission is looking forward to more art installations in the future,” Arts and Culture Supervisor Arianna Therriault said.

Parks and Rec Superintendent Josh Medeiros said beautification projects like this can “add so much to any city.”

“We are thrilled to see the latest art installation at Federal Hill,” he said.

The public can participate in the ribbon cutting ceremony for the “Heart of Bristol” sculpture Monday at 3 p.m.

The location of the heart is on the Southeast portion of Federal Hill Green, near the intersection of Queen Street and Center Street. Parking is available along Queen Street.
