BRISTOL – Mayor Jeff Caggiano paid a visit to the Main Street Community Foundation to honor them for their 30th anniversary on Friday.

Founded in 1995, the Main Street Community Foundation helps donors build “charitable endowments” in the communities of Bristol, Burlington, Plainville, Plymouth, Southington and Wolcott, Connecticut.

Their website states that the foundation “takes great pride in helping to make each town a better community in which to live and work.”

Caggiano visited the Main Street Community Foundation staff and board of directors at their office at 120 Halcyon Dr. on Friday.

He presented a citation to Susan Sadecki, president and CEO of the Main Street Community Foundation, in honor of the organization's 30th anniversary.

"The City of Bristol appreciates the contributions that Main Street Community Foundation brings to our All Heart City and thanks MSCF for creating a legacy that will live on for many generations to come and well beyond the 30 years we celebrate today," Caggiano said.

At the organization's annual meeting earlier this year, Sadecki said a record $2.7 million in grants were awarded last year.

As of that annual meeting, the Foundation had awarded $30.9 million since its inception.

"For 30 years, local residents have committed their time and valuable expertise to the Foundation as well as their knowledge of the communities where they live and work," Sadecki said at the time. "To all those past and present we are forever grateful."

The Main Street Community Foundation will continue to celebrate its anniversary with "The Main Event 30th Anniversary Celebration - Meet Us On Main Street."

This event will be held Sept. 13. from 6 to 10 p.m. at The Aqua Turf Club at 556 Mulberry St., Plantsville.
